SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF FLORIDA
MIAMI DIVISION

CASE NO. 1:18-cv-24227-CMA

JASON MILLER,

Plaintiff,

v.

GIZMODO MEDIA GROUP, LLC,
a Delaware Corporation, KATHERINE
KRUEGER, individually, and
WILL MENAKER, individually,

Defendants.

PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO SUPPLEMENT EXPERT DISCLOSURE AND OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO EXCLUDE EXPERT OPINIONS OF CRAIG KRONENBERGER

Plaintiff, Jason Miller ("Miller"), by counsel and pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 16(b)(4) and 26(e)(2), and Local Rule 7.1(c), respectfully requests leave of Court to supplement his Rule 26(a)(2)(B) expert disclosure and his Response in Opposition to Defendants' Motion to Exclude Expert Opinions of Craig Kronenberger ("Kronenberger") [Doc. 173] (the "Opposition"), as well as leave to permit Gizmodo Defendants to re-depose Kronenberger, if they so choose, after the discovery deadline in the Amended Scheduling Order [Doc. 101]. In support, Miller states as follows:

Introduction

Kronenberger is Miller's expert in the field of online reputation management. Kronenberger used methods and tools routinely relied upon in his industry to determine the level, volume, reach and authority of online content and conversation surrounding Miller related to Gizmodo Defendants' Article, and based on those methods and tools, as well as his background experience, and knowledge, rendered opinions about the sentiment of the online reaction to the Article and the cost of counteracting the impact of the Article on Miller. [Doc. 173 pp. 10-11]

Gizmodo Defendants have asked the Court to exclude Kronenberger's testimony as a sanction under Rule 37 and under Daubert. [See Doc. 161] Their Rule 37 argument focuses primarily on Kronenberger's use of Talkwalker, a "monitoring and listening tool for social media, news and forums," to evaluate the (1) amount and (2) sentiment of online news, social media, and conversation generated by Gizmodo Defendants' Article. [Doc. 161 p. 4] Gizmodo Defendants insist Kronenberger should be completely precluded from testifying because he did not disclose in his Report the search terms he used in Talkwalker and the underlying data – online news articles and social media activity – that Talkwalker compiled. [Id. p. 6]

Miller explained in his Opposition why he believes Kronenberger's Report satisfies Rule 26(a)(2)(B)'s requirements. [Doc. 173 pp. 5-6] Miller also noted that "Defendants did not raise any deficiency in Kronenberger's Report nor ask Miller's counsel to supplement it, nor provide any indication of potential problems before Kronenberger's deposition [on June 7, 2019]." [Doc. 173 p. 7] See Griffith v. Gen. Motors Corp., 303 F.3d 1276, 1283 (11th Cir. 2002) (was not an abuse of discretion to deny motion to exclude expert for omissions in report where movant "never moved for an order requiring any more detailed response under Rule 26"). Heading into Kronenberger's deposition, Miller and Kronenberger believed the Report included the required statement of all opinions Kronenberger would express, the basis and reasons for them, and the facts and data he considered in forming them. See Companhia Energetica Potiguar v. Caterpillar Inc., 2016 WL 11547499, *9 (S.D. Fla. Jun. 13, 2016) (disagreeing with movant's argument that Rule 26 requires an expert report to provide more than a list of materials relied upon or to connect opinions back to specific underlying data to comply with requirement that the facts and data considered in forming opinions must be in the report).

Kronenberger was deposed on June 7, 2019, followed by Gizmodo Defendants' expert¹ on June 11, 2019. During Kronenberger's deposition, Gizmodo Defendants asked about the search terms Kronenberger used and the Talkwalker data, but gave no indication they intended to seek Rule 37 sanctions. Under the circumstances, there was no reason to suspect Gizmodo Defendants intended to seek such drastic relief. To the contrary, Miller learned for the first time during Gizmodo Defendants' expert's deposition that they chose not to obtain access to Talkwalker, although they did access a similar application. [Doc. 173 p. 8] Gizmodo Defendants' expert also testified that Kronenberger's search terms ultimately did not matter and there was no need to produce the underlying "research" (or data), because no one disputed the spike of online interest about Miller surrounding the Splinter Article. [Doc. 173 p. 7; see also Giddens Depo. p. 128, attached as Exhibit 1] Gizmodo Defendants' expert even testified that there were not any materials she asked to review in this case which she did not receive. [Giddens Depo. p. 41, attached as Exhibit 1]

Nevertheless (as explained in detail below), when Gizmodo Defendants' counsel followed-up about Kronenberger's search terms, the Talkwalker data and other information after his deposition, Miller and Kronenberger diligently sought to provide this information. At no point throughout that time – from when Kronenberger's Report was served until they filed the Motion to Exclude – did Gizmodo Defendants give any indication to Miller that they intended to move to preclude Kronenberger's testimony because his report was deficient or his search terms or Talkwalker data were not produced with his Report or after his deposition.

Even though Miller opposes Gizmodo Defendants' motion to exclude Kronenberger's testimony, he and Kronenberger continued working to provide the Talkwalker data. After learning that social media data could not be mass exported from Talkwalker, Kronenberger offered to use his Talkwalker access credentials and sit with Gizmodo Defendants or their expert to show them the data. After that offer went unanswered, Kronenberger set out to create a "dashboard" so Gizmodo Defendants could access the Talkwalker data directly from the application.

On July 26, 2019, Kronenberger finished creating, and Miller's counsel gave Gizmodo Defendants log-in credentials to access, this "dashboard" through Talkwalker; through which Gizmodo Defendants can view all of the Talkwalker data identified in Kronenberger's Report and discussed at his deposition. Nearly a week later, on August 1, 2019, Gizmodo Defendants acknowledged receipt of the Talkwalker data, but indicated they have not accessed it over concerns that Miller's counsel will somehow record or monitor their activity within the dashboard (which Miller perceives as a patently offensive and baseless suggestion).

Controlling Standards

In light of the current procedural status of this case, Miller's request for leave implicates several rules and their associated standards. Under Local Rule 7.1(c), leave to amend or supplement prior filings is discretionary, typically limited to situations where new arguments are raised, and should not be used to argue issues that could have been raised before. Miccosukee Tribe of Indians of Fla. v. U.S., 103 F.Supp.3d 1314, 1325n. 6 (S.D. Fla. 2015) (citing First Specialty Ins. Corp. v. 633 Partners Ltd., 300 Fed.Appx. 777, 788 (11th Cir. 2008); Girard v. Aztec RV Resort, Inc., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 105855 (S.D. Fla. Sept. 16, 2011)). The overriding guidance on whether to grant leave to supplement is "when a valid reason for such additional briefing exists." Id.

At the same time, the relief Miller seeks involves the deadlines in Her Honor's Amended Scheduling Order [Doc. 101], which under Rule 16(b)(4) "may be modified only for good cause and with the judge's consent." Alan L. Frank Law Associates, P.C. v. OOO RM Invest, 2017 WL 9732057, *1 (S.D. Fla. Jan. 12, 2017). The good cause inquiry focuses on diligence, rather than prejudice. Id. (citing Johnson v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 609 (9th Cir. 1992); Roberson v. BancorpSouth Bank, Inc., 2013 WL 4870839, at *2 (S.D. Ala. Sept. 12, 2013)).

"Additionally, once a deadline has passed, the Court may extend a deadline upon a motion by a party and a showing of excusable neglect." Id. (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(b)(1)(B)). Excusable neglect is an equitable determination based on the consideration of factors that include: (1) prejudice to the non-movant; (2) the length of delay and its potential impact on the proceedings; (3) the reason for the delay; and (4) whether the movant acted in good faith. Id. (citations omitted).

As set forth below, Miller believes the facts and circumstances surrounding Kronenberger's Report, its claimed deficiencies, the Motion to Exclude, and Miller's efforts to provide Kronenberger's search terms and the Talkwalker data establish a valid reason, good cause, and excusable neglect sufficient to justify granting Miller leave to supplement Kronenberger's Report and Miller's Opposition to the Motion to Exclude, and to permit Kronenberger's continued deposition if Gizmodo Defendants choose to take it before trial.

Overview of the Claimed Disclosure Deficiencies

Gizmodo Defendants contend Kronenberger's expert disclosures were deficient because he did not describe the specific search terms he used in Talkwalker and did not produce all of the underlying Talkwalker data. [Doc. 161, p. 8] Miller disputes this contention and maintains Kronenberger's Report did not need to include the level of detail Gizmodo Defendants suggest Rule 26 requires, the additional information Gizmodo Defendants wanted in the Report already was or has since been disclosed, and any delay in the disclosure is attributable to Gizmodo Defendants' strategic decisions to remain silent and not to obtain access Talkwalker. [Doc. 173, pp. 7-8]

A. The Search Terms

Gizmodo Defendants' suggestion that Kronenberger's Report had to include the search terms he used in Talkwalker runs contrary to the language of Rule 26, their decision not to gain access Talkwalker, and their own expert's concession that Kronenberger's search terms ultimately do not matter. Rule 26(a)(2)(B) does not require detail as granular as search terms. Companhia Energetica, 2016 WL 11547499, at *9. Dr. Giddens eventually acknowledged that Kronenberger's search terms were inconsequential because she concurred with Kronenberger's assessment of the spike in online activity generated by the Article. [Doc. 173 p. 7] And the search terms were of no use to Gizmodo Defendants anyway, because they chose not to gain (and never even asked for) access to Talkwalker; thus had no means of replicating Kronenberger's search in the Talkwalker application. [Doc. 173 p. 8]

Moreover, Gizmodo Defendants did not ask for Kronenberger's search terms after receiving his Report on April 18, 2019. Instead, they waited until Kronenberger's deposition to question him about those details – which apparently was a strategic decision so they could use the search terms as a basis to try to prevent Kronenberger from testifying. Companhia Energetica, 2016 WL 11547499, at *11; see also Ellison v. Windt, 2001 WL 118617, *2-3 (M.D. Fla. Jan. 24, 2011).

Given Gizmodo Defendants' failure to inform Miller about any problems surrounding Kronenberger's search terms before his deposition, as well as the facial requirements of Rule 26(a)(2)(B), the omission of the search terms from the Report was substantially justified. A reasonable person could conclude that parties could differ as to whether Miller was required to disclose Kronenberger's search terms. Ellison, 2001 WL 118617, at *2 (citing Chapple v. Alabama, 174 F.R.D. 698, 701 (M.D. Ala. 1997) (quoting Nguyen v. IBP, Inc., 162 F.R.D. 675, 680 (D. Kan. 1995)); Companhia Energetica, 2016 WL 11547499, at *9 (discussing disagreement over interpretation of Rule 26(a)(2)(B)).

Kronenberger testified about his search terms at his deposition, and promptly provided more specific details about the search terms when Gizmodo Defendants emailed their request for them after his deposition. [Doc. 173 p. 7; Doc. 161-4] However, as set forth above, the search terms ultimately are inconsequential.

B. The Talkwalker Data

The Talkwalker data relates to one aspect of Kronenberger's opinions Gizmodo Defendants described in detail in their Motion to Strike (citing to Kronenberger's Report and deposition): Kronenberger's determination of the "volume" and "authority" of the Article using Talkwalker. [See Doc. 161 p. 4] As disclosed in his Report and explained at his deposition, Kronenberger used Talkwalker to determine how much the Article was picked-up by other news media outlets ("News Media") and how much it was disseminated across social media platforms ("Social Media"). As for News Media, Kronenberger used Talkwalker to determine that there were at least 201 referring domains to the Article and 3.12K links from other sites to the Article. [Doc. 161-1, pp. 4, 25] As for Social Media, Kronenberger determined Miller was mentioned in specific relation to the Article at least 55.5K times across social media channels, which generated 375,377 engagements (instances in which individuals shared, commented on, or liked the content). [Doc. 161, p. 4, citing Report at p. 20]

Gizmodo Defendants do not contend Kronenberger's determination of the volume and authority of the News Media and Social Media related to the Article is unreliable or inaccurate. Rather, Gizmodo Defendants take issue with Kronenberger's assessment (based on his professional experience and Talkwalker's "sentiment" tool) that the Article had a "negative" impact on Miller's reputation; which they characterize as being an issue of whether the Article "changed anyone's perceptions concerning Miller." [Doc. 161, p. 14] Miller addressed this Daubert argument in his Opposition. [Doc. 173 pp. 10-14]

1. News Media Data

As Gizmodo Defendants acknowledge in their Motion to Strike [Doc. 161, p. 4], Kronenberger's Report explains how he calculated the cost of advertising dollars needed to address the News Media surrounding the Article using an industry-endorsed formula (Ad Value Equivalency or "AVE"), which takes into account the "Readership Value" or "UVM" of the Article. Kronenberger's Report ("Steps to Calculate AVE" on p. 19) also explains that his calculation of the Readership or UVM was reflected in a spreadsheet, "Jason Miller Export.xls," which was produced with his Report (see Exhibit 2; STRIPE 06-154). Specifically, Kronenberger plugged the Talkwalker News Media data or “URLs of websites that either referenced or linked to the Article” into Cision/TrendKite (the result of which is in the spreadsheet; Ex. 2) to determine the Readership Value or UVM. [See Doc. 161, p. 4]

Gizmodo Defendants had the Talkwalker News Media data (the URLs of websites that either referenced or linked to the Article) before they deposed Kronenberger and filed their Motion. Each URL of the websites that referenced or linked to the Article (the News Media) is listed in the spreadsheet Kronenberger produced with his Report, which Gizmodo Defendants asked him about at his deposition. [See Doc. 161, p. 4]

2. Social Media Data

On June 17, 2019 (10 days after Kronenberger’s deposition), Gizmodo Defendants’ counsel emailed the undersigned about several items discussed at Kronenberger’s deposition, one of which was “Raw data from Talkwalker (*for example, what he used to analyze whether comments were “negative”).” (See Exhibit 3) Miller’s counsel immediately responded and agreed to follow-up with Kronenberger. (Id.) Kronenberger was working on gathering the materials discussed at his deposition and requested in Gizmodo Defendants’ counsels’ June 17 e-mail, and on June 21, 2019, Miller’s counsel provided responses to all of Gizmodo Defendants’ June 17, 2019 requested items with the exception of the Talkwalker data, which Kronenberger was still trying to extract from Talkwalker. (See Exhibit 4)

Over the ensuing weekend, Kronenberger continued working on trying to export the Talkwalker Social Media data, but was “having complications exporting it from the system.” (See Exhibit 5) Kronenberger was even working with Talkwalker to try to develop a solution. (Id.) The following Monday, June 24, 2019, Gizmodo Defendants’ counsel emailed the undersigned to confer about their intention to move to strike Kronenberger, but made no mention of Rule 37 nor seeking to exclude Kronenberger based on the search terms or Talkwalker data. (See Exhibit 6) Accordingly, Miller assumed Gizmodo Defendants’ motion would be based only on Daubert. However, on June 27, 2019, Gizmodo Defendants filed their Motion to Exclude [Doc. 161], including their previously undisclosed contention that Rule 37 sanctions were appropriate.

Even after that occurred, Kronenberger continued to try to find a way to export the Talkwalker Social Media data. Eventually, he learned Social Media data could not be mass exported from Talkwalker; Facebook data could not be exported at all, and only 10% of the Twitter data could be pulled. As Kronenberger continued trying to find a solution, Miller's counsel had to work on responding to the Motion to Exclude and Gizmodo Defendants' Summary Judgment Motion by the July 11, 2018 deadline. [Docs. 171-173]

Miller's Unauthorized Supplement

On July 18, 2019, Miller admittedly filed an unauthorized "supplement" to his Opposition to the Motion to Strike [Doc. 180], through which he hastily sought to clarify that the Talkwalker News Media data was already disclosed in the spreadsheet produced with Kronenberger's Report, and the Talkwalker Social Media data could not be mass exported from Talkwalker because of social media platforms' privacy restrictions. Miller also sought to disclose that Kronenberger would use his log-in credentials to access Talkwalker with Gizmodo Defendants' counsel and/or their expert so they could view the Talkwalker data; as well as to reiterate that Kronenberger would sit for another deposition if Gizmodo Defendants needed one.

On July 22, 2019, Gizmodo Defendants filed a motion seeking to strike Miller's Supplement [Doc. 182], which correctly argued Miller did not seek leave of Court before filing it. Although Gizmodo Defendants did not confer with Miller before filing that motion, Miller recognized Gizmodo Defendants' position was correct, agreed his Supplement should be stricken, and confirmed that he needed to seek leave. [See Doc. 183] Shortly after Gizmodo Defendants filed their Notice reflecting this concession by Miller [Doc. 183], the Court entered an Order directing that Miller's unauthorized Supplement would not be considered. [Doc. 184]

Miller's Request for Leave is Well-Supported

Miller and Kronenberger have not engaged in any "gamesmanship" [see Doc. 176 p. 4] concerning Kronenberger's opinions or the facts and data he considered in reaching them. As set forth above, Miller was substantially justified in believing Kronenberger's disclosures complied with Rule 26, and he and Kronenberger promptly provided all the additional information Gizmodo Defendants requested, although the Talkwalker Social Media data took longer than expected because Kronenberger was unable to export it from Talkwalker.

After Kronenberger learned he could not export all the Social Media data from Talkwalker (and even though Gizmodo Defendants' motion to exclude his testimony had already been filed), he continued to try to come up with a solution that would allow Gizmodo Defendants to access the Talkwalker data. On July 18, 2019, Miller's counsel extended the offer (albeit in the aforementioned unauthorized Supplement) for Kronenberger to access Talkwalker with Gizmodo Defendants' counsel or their expert so they could view the data. Gizmodo Defendants never expressed any interest in that offer. Then, Kronenberger moved forward with creating the "dashboard" through Talkwalker, which would enable Gizmodo Defendants to log-in to Talkwalker to see the data on the application because it could not be exported. Kronenberger and his staff expended approximately 32 hours of time at a cost of $4,800.00 to build this "dashboard" through Talkwalker, which gives Gizmodo Defendants direct access to see all of the Talkwalker data associated with his opinions.

On Friday, July 26, 2019, Miller's counsel sent Gizmodo Defendants' counsel a link to Talkwalker and log-in credentials to access the dashboard Kronenberger created. (See Exhibit 7) At the same time, Miller renewed his offer to make Kronenberger available for his continued deposition if Gizmodo Defendants deemed it necessary after reviewing the Talkwalker data. (Id.) Gizmodo Defendants' counsel responded to the undersigned's July 26, 2019 email on August 1, 2019, indicating that they had not yet accessed the Talkwalker data through the dashboard Kronenberger created based on unfounded concerns Miller's counsel would spy on them.

Miller seeks leave to supplement (or the Court's approval of the supplemental disclosures he has now made to) Kronenberger's Report with the disclosures of Kronenberger's search terms at his deposition and on June 21, 2019, and the Talkwalker data which, as of July 26, 2019, was made available to Gizmodo Defendants through the Talkwalker dashboard Kronenberger created. Miller also seeks leave to supplement his Opposition to Gizmodo Defendants' Motion to Strike to include these disclosures. Miller also seeks permission for Gizmodo Defendants to depose Kronenberger after the discovery cut-off, if they so choose once they review the Talkwalker data. The parties already agreed, pursuant to the Court's Amended Scheduling Order [Doc. 101], to extend discovery to complete other depositions on August 7-8, 2019.²

There is valid reason and good cause to grant this relief, and Miller can demonstrate excusable neglect. As this Court recognized, the excusable neglect determination is "an equitable one." Alan L. Frank, 2017 WL 9732057, at *1. Equity is also a substantial component of the Court's discretion under Rule 37. Within the context of Rules 37 and 16, as a general matter, “courts vastly prefer[] to decide cases on their merits, rather than exclude evidence... [which is]... an extreme sanction which is not normally imposed absent showing of willful deception or flagrant disregard of a court order by the proponent of the evidence.” Graphic Packaging Intern., Inc. v. C.W. Zumbiel Co., 2011 WL 5357833, *2 (M.D. Fla. Nov. 3, 2011).

As set forth above, Miller and Kronenberger believed the Report satisfied Rule 26(a)(2)(B), and that belief was substantially justified. Ellison, 2001 WL 118617, at *2. Gizmodo Defendants did not give Miller any indication before Kronenberger was deposed suggesting otherwise. Kronenberger’s Report was served April 18, 2019. Over the ensuing 49 days before his deposition, Gizmodo Defendants never raised any concerns about or asked Miller to provide more detail about search terms or any Talkwalker data. To the contrary, on May 31, 2019 (7 days before Kronenberger’s deposition) Gizmodo Defendants’ counsel emailed the undersigned only about a case name and number (for another case in which Kronenberger served as an expert) redacted in Kronenberger’s Report – which was quickly provided. (See Exhibit 8) This email made no mention of search terms or Talkwalker data. And, during her deposition, Gizmodo Defendants’ expert openly admitted that she never asked for more information concerning Kronenberger’s Report before she was deposed on June 11, 2019 (Giddens Depo. pp. 150-51, attached as Exhibit 1), and that there was not anything she asked to review in this case that she did not receive (Id.).

This case presents facts comparable to Companhia Energetica – where the party seeking to exclude an expert based on perceived deficiencies in a report never raised those deficiencies before taking the expert’s deposition. 2016 WL 11547499, at *11 and n. 9. Like the movant in Companhia Energetica, Gizmodo Defendants “did not flag and seek to cure [their] concern... before [they] took [the expert’s] deposition.” Id. (emphasis in original). In reaching his decision declining to exclude the expert, Magistrate Judge Goodman noted the Eleventh Circuit’s criticism of “a party’s failure to timely resolve a dispute over an expert disclosure before seeking to exclude the opinion testimony.” Id. (citing Griffith, 303 F.3d at 1283; Thornton v. U.S., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15543, at *23-24 (S.D. Ga. Feb. 5, 2013) (dispute over sufficiency of expert’s report under Rule 26 “could have been resolved more amicably and efficiently during discovery if Defendant had simply requested the Rule 26(a)(2)(B) information that was not included” in the expert’s report or affidavit.)) Here, because Gizmodo Defendants waited until Kronenberger’s deposition to raise any concerns over the search terms and Talkwalker data (which was after the discovery cutoff), Miller could not resolve those concerns before Kronenberger's deposition or the close of discovery.

Once Gizmodo Defendants' counsel emailed asking for the search terms, Talkwalker data, and other information, Miller and Kronenberger promptly responded and diligently followed upon the request. Even after Gizmodo Defendants filed their Motion, Kronenberger still figured out a way to get them access to the Talkwalker Social Media data he could not export – despite the fact Dr. Giddens testified she did not think social media data was necessary, which is why she did not consider it or include it in her report. (See Giddens Depo. pp. 173-74, attached as Exhibit 1).

As a whole, these facts establish good cause, good faith, and excusable neglect. They also establish a legitimate reason for the delay and its length.

If there is any impact on the proceedings or prejudice to Gizmodo Defendants, it is minimal compared to the extremely harsh, “draconian” sanction of striking Kronenberger. Moreover, any impact or prejudice was self-inflicted by Gizmodo Defendants' decision to not raise the Kronenberger disclosure issue sooner. In fact, several courts have held that where the opponent of a proffered expert fails to either attempt to resolve a defective expert report in good faith or fails to move for an order requiring a more detailed response under Rule 26, that party cannot be heard to complain of prejudice. Woienski v. United Airlines, Inc., 383 F.Supp.3d 1342 (M.D. Fla. 2019) (citations omitted); Jones v. Discount Auto Parts, LLC, 2017 WL 1396477, at *10 (M.D. Fla. Apr. 4, 2017) (“[W]hen, as here, a party fails to promptly seek enforcement of his rights, any prejudice suffered arises largely from the party's own inaction.”) (citing Ellison, 2001 WL 118617, at *3; FDIC v. Optimum Title, LLC, 2011 WL 13302506 (M.D. Fla. Sept. 16, 2011) (where defendant offered to make experts available for depositions and Plaintiff still had time before trial to depose them – absent a finding of bad faith or gamesmanship on the eve of trial – motion to strike was denied) (citing McClain). In Optimum Title, the plaintiff sought to strike experts because their reports did not identify the facts or data considered in forming their opinions. Id. *1. Also, the party offering the experts produced 400 documents related to their opinions at the pretrial conference. Id. However, the court denied the plaintiffs' motion to strike, noting the plaintiff did not file a motion with the court regarding any problems with the experts or their reports before moving to strike them. Id. Here, although the trial is a month away, the parties are already taking other depositions and it does not seem to be an unreasonable burden for one of the many lawyers from the two law firms representing Gizmodo Defendants (based on pro hac admissions and signature blocks, nine (9) lawyers have appeared for Gizmodo Defendants in this case) to take Kronenberger's continued deposition before trial.

Miller and Kronenberger have not acted in bad faith, tried to willfully deceive Gizmodo Defendants or flagrantly disregarded this Court's Orders or Rule 26. Miller disclosed the News Media data with Kronenberger's Report, promptly provided almost all of the follow-up information Gizmodo Defendants requested (including the search terms), and tried to export the Talkwalker Social Media data only to learn that was not possible. On July 18, 2019, Miller offered to make Kronenberger available to use his credentials to access Talkwalker with Gizmodo Defendants and/or their counsel. Following which, Kronenberger and his staff expended 32 hours at a cost of $4,800.00 to create a dashboard so Gizmodo Defendants could view the Talkwalker data.

This is not a situation where an expert asserts a "brand new theory... not disclosed in the initial report." Alphamed Pharm. Corp. v. Arriva Pharm., Inc., 2005 WL 5960935, at *8 (S.D. Fla. Aug. 24, 2005). This is not a situation where a party failed to disclose an expert until months after a disclosure deadline and never provided an expert report – as was the case in U.S. v. Twenty-Nine Pre-Columbian and Colonial Artifacts from Peru, 2015 WL 457860, *1 (S.D. Fla. Feb. 3, 2015) (cited by Gizmodo Defendants at Doc. 176 p. 3). This is not a situation where an expert's report was "manifestly incomplete... lacking analysis or supporting rationale [and the party offering the expert] wait[ed] for the summary judgment deadline to pass, and then submit[ted] a fuller report that contains actual reasoning." Marder, 318 F.R.D. at 190 (citing Ullman v. Auto-Owners Mut. Ins. Co., 2007 WL 1057397, *4 (S.D. Ohio Apr. 5, 2007) (cited by Gizmodo Defendants at Doc. 176 p. 3). In Marder, the untimely disclosure involved three experts and a significant amount of omitted information, and the expert opinions directly related to pending summary judgment motions. 318 F.R.D. at 191-193.

This also is not a situation involving an ambush using "a disclosure of new testing procedures in the middle of trial" – as was the case in Rembrandt Vision Technologies, L.P. v. Johnson & Johnson Vision Care, Inc., 282 F.R.D. 655, 665 (M.D. Fla. 2012) (emphasis added) (cited by Gizmodo Defendants at Doc. 176 p. 5). Rather, this case is akin to one that Rembrandt, 282 F.R.D. at 665, distinguished: McClain v. Metabolife Int'l, Inc., 193 F.Supp.2d 1252 (N.D. Ala. 2002), in which the court declined to strike an expert under Rule 37, recognizing that

‘[w]ithout a finding of bad faith or gamesmanship on the eve of trial, many courts are loathe to involve the strong medicine of precluding expert testimony.’ Id. at 1259.³

This Court is among those that have cited to McClain and declined to preclude expert testimony without a finding of bad faith or gamesmanship on the eve of trial, while also recognizing that preclusion of expert testimony under Rule 37 is an “unduly harsh, draconian sanction.” See Companhia Energetica, 2016 WL 11547499, at *11. In Companhia Energetica, Magistrate Judge Goodman completed a thorough analysis of this issue, distinguishing cases involving the “extreme situation” where an expert does not provide any basis for an opinion or completely refuses to produce the material relied upon, from situations like this case, involving an argument that an expert’s report should have provided more information about the facts and data considered. Id. at *9.

This District also cited McClain in Benner v. NCL (Bahamas) Ltd., 2016 WL 11547582, *4 (S.D. Fla. Mar. 29, 2016). In Benner, the defendant did not make its expert disclosure until after the deadline for filing Daubert motions. Id. at *5. Despite finding the untimely disclosure was not substantially justified, the court concluded the violation was ultimately harmless because a Daubert motion was not likely to succeed. Id. at *7-8 (noting most Daubert challenges concern attacks going to the weight of the opinions, not their admissibility). Here, Gizmodo Defendants filed their Daubert motion, attacking Kronenberger’s conclusions about the sentiment or “negative” impact of the News Media and Social Media activity surrounding the Article. As Miller explained [Doc. 173 pp. 11-16], their argument goes to the weight, not admissibility of Kronenberger’s testimony. See also Companhia Energetica, 2016 WL 11547499, at *12-14 (discussing challenges to expert testimony based on weight, rather than reliability).

Within the framework of the equitable relief Miller seeks through this motion, Rule 37 grants broad discretion in fashioning equitable remedies to address violations of Rule 26. Those remedies include the ability to permit depositions beyond the discovery cutoff to alleviate any concern over surprise at trial. Falin v. Condo Assoc. of La Mer Estates, Inc., 2012 WL 13005975, *3 (S.D. Fla. Mar. 1, 2012) (recognizing broad discretion in discovery matters and appropriateness of using that discretion to authorize deposition after discovery cutoff as opposed to more severe sanctions under Rule 37); see also Optimum Title, 2011 WL 13302506, at *1. Although trial is a month away, there is sufficient time to complete Kronenberger's deposition without impacting, modifying or extending any other pretrial deadlines. Kronenberger's questioning should be narrowly focused on follow-up on his search terms (which he was already questioned about) and the Talkwalker data (which should not involve extensive questioning). If the Court permits Kronenberger to testify, he will be called live at trial and there is no need to designate his deposition testimony.

³ McClain also held that “Rule 702 and Daubert set standards for the admissibility of trial evidence, not requirements of pretrial procedure. If the expert has a relevant and reliable opinion to offer that will assist the trier of fact to determine the cause of the [injuries] at issue, that opinion should be admitted into evidence.” 193 F.Supp.2d at 1259 (citations omitted).

Conclusion

Given Miller's good faith belief in the sufficiency of Kronenberger's Report and subsequent efforts to supply the search terms, Talkwalker data, and other information Gizmodo Defendants requested, as well as the offer to make Kronenberger available for another deposition, and Gizmodo Defendants' failure to raise any deficiencies with Kronenberger's Report before his deposition, the "draconian" sanction of excluding Kronenberger's opinions is not appropriate and Miller should be permitted to supplement his disclosure and Opposition and make Kronenberger available for a deposition after the scheduling order deadlines.

ORAL VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION

TERRI D. GIDDENS, PH.D.

June 11, 2019

* * * * *

ORAL VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION OF TERRI D. GIDDENS, PH.D., produced as a witness at the instance of the Plaintiff and duly sworn, was taken in the above-styled and numbered cause on June 11, 2019, from 8:55 a.m. to 1:18 p.m., before Cheryl Duncan, CSR, in and for the State of Texas, reported by computerized stenotype machine at the offices of Rick
Husband Amarillo International Airport, 10801 Airport
Boulevard, Amarillo, Texas, pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

1 Q. So other than Mr. Kronenberger's
2 deposition, you haven't reviewed any other
3 depositions in this case?

4 A. No.

5 Q. And have you reviewed any data from any
6 either social media or online media monitoring tools?

7 MS. SHULLMAN: Object to the form.

8 A. Ask that again, please.

9 Q. Have you looked at any data from any social 10 media or online media monitoring tools?

11 A. I looked at the Brand24 since -- or a 12 couple of weeks of data, just to look at what it was 13 producing. I didn't do any analysis on it. I was 14 just really looking at how it worked, what the use of 15 it was.

16 Q. And you said a couple of weeks of data.
17 Was it just going back a couple of weeks from the 18 date that you looked at it?

19 A. No, it was the trial period.

20 Q. Were you able, in the trial period, to go
21 back historically and look?

22 A. No.

23 Q. Were there any materials that you asked to 24 review in this case that you did not receive?

25 A. No.

1 I would do the same thing with my expert's report.

2 I'd do it with a lot of stuff right now.

3 THE WITNESS: Can I watch?

4 MR. VOGT: As long as it all blows
5 towards American Airlines.

6 MS. SHULLMAN: All right.

7 MR. VOGT: All right.

8 Q. So on the first page of your report, you
9 say, I was asked to specifically review and rebut the 10 assessment of plaintiff's expert, Craig Kronenberger.
11 Is that an accurate description of what you were 12 asked to do?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And have you done anything else in this 15 case?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Were you asked to develop any of your own
18 independent opinions, as opposed to just rebut what 19 Mr. Kronenberger did?

20 A. Basically I was just -- said, hey, take a 21 look at this, read through it, kind of tell me what 22 you think. So I wouldn't expect that my opinions on 23 the matter would have been limited, no. So, yes. I
24 mean, I was pretty open.

25 Q. I mean, what do you mean by that? I'm not

1 really clear when you say "I was pretty open."

2 A. I wasn't limited.

3 Q. Okay. But did you form any independent
4 opinions? Is sort of what I'm getting at. I mean,
5 as opposed to just rebutting him.

6 MS. SHULLMAN: Object to the form.

7 A. I formed opinions on a lot of his
8 methodology and procedures and -- so, yeah, I formed
9 opinions.

10 Q. What I'm trying to get at is, like you
11 didn't do anything beyond the scope of 12 Mr. Kronenberger's report?

13 A. No.

14 Q. And there's a list on page 2 -- and it goes
15 on to page 3 -- of eight items?

16 A. Uh-huh.

17 Q. It's an outline and overview of your 18 findings.

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And is that a complete list of all of the 21 opinions you reached in this case?

22 A. Since reading the deposition, I may have 23 some additional ones.

24 Q. Can you tell me what those are?

25 A. The main problem that I had with

1 Mr. Miller's reputation; is that right?

2 A. I've looked at those -- the graphs and the 3 trends, and I've seen that it's trended off and the 4 story has pretty much died. There's not a lot of 5 activity. So I can't say that I haven't -- I mean,
6 I -- the story is not publicly and online still alive
7 except through this court case.

8 Q. But we don't have any of that research that 9 you did; is that right?

10 A. No.

11 Q. I mean, correct, we don't have the 12 research?

13 A. But you've got, you've got the, the trend
14 line that Kronenberger has. It continues on after.
15 So he's got it provided. And I don't disagree with 16 the way that his trend line tailed off. There was no
17 need to produce that.

18 Q. Do you disagree with Mr. Kronenberger's
19 trend line in terms of the spike in activity?

20 A. The spike is there. That's fine. It would 21 be very informative to know what search criteria he 22 used to actually get that, because in his deposition
23 he said that he had that filtered down according to 24 some Boolean phrases that, once again, is not 25 explained in his report. I would like to see the

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. -- correct?

3 Mr. Kronenberger wasn't deposed until
4 this past Friday. Is that right?

5 A. That's correct.

6 Q. At any point in time after you finished
7 your report, did you ask anyone if they could get
8 this additional information for you?

9 MS. SHULLMAN: Shane, you know very
10 well that your expert was not available until -- I
11 mean, that's why we took him out of turn.

12 MR. VOGT: This is a different
13 question.

14 A. Did I ask for clarification?

15 Q. Right.

16 A. This report was due May the 9th. There
17 wasn't a lot of time to, to get information from him.
18 And it is his professional responsibility as an 19 expert to provide that in his report.

20 Q. I understand that. I understand when the 21 reports were due.

22 What I'm asking, though, is more of a
23 practical issue, in that, if you needed more
24 information to understand what he did and why he did
25 it, did you ask for it?

1 A. I assumed that because he did not give me
2 any -- that he refined the searches, that he used a
3 general search. So my assumptions were, since he 4 didn't go into the details of it, then there weren't
5 any details of it, he just did it generally.

6 Q. And so by making that assumption, am I
7 correct in understanding that you did not ask --

8 A. No, I did not ask.

9 Q. -- for additional information?

10 And then one of the things you say on 11 page 8, you looked at -- appendix R has the analytics
12 on the Splinter article. And it shows that there
13 were 255,551 page views, and the average time spent
14 on the page was 43 seconds.

15 MS. SHULLMAN: Where are you, Shane?
16 I don't see it on page 8.

17 THE WITNESS: I don't either.

18 MR. VOGT: Bottom of 9 to 10, I'm 19 sorry.

20 THE WITNESS: Oh, okay.

21 MS. SHULLMAN: Okay.

22 MR. VOGT: I have page eight over
23 here. This is why I don't like double-sided pages.

24 Q. Did you see that part I was talking about?

25 A. Uh-huh.

1 in any way on any articles?

2 MS. SHULLMAN: Object to the form.

3 A. There's probably Google Analytics on it
4 that could be pulled if we needed to.

5 Q. But you didn't pull that, right?

6 A. No.

7 Q. And you know what I mean by "engaged,"
8 right?

9 A. Yes, yes.

10 Q. And just so the record's clear, what would 11 that mean?

12 A. That means they actually spent time on the 13 page, they interacted with the page, they didn't 14 just -- you can tell whether or not they clicked on 15 it. Not only can you tell if they clicked on it, you
16 can tell whether or not they engaged with it or -- 17 the term would be they just bounced, they left.

18 Q. And appendix S does not include any data
19 related to social media; is that right?

20 A. That's correct. This is strictly Google
21 search.

22 Q. And so in assessing Mr. Miller's 23 reputation, prior to the article, did you perform any 24 searches similar to what's in appendix S for social
25 media?

1 A. No. And the reason would be the, the
2 methodology that every reputation management expert
3 that I have encountered before dealt primarily with 4 Google search. Because it is Google search that a
5 normal layperson would use to find information on a 6 person. Even Mr. Kronenberger used Google search in 7 a prior case. Using tools that people use, that is 8 the way people get their opinion. The only tool that 9 most people have is a Google search or another search
10 engine's search. So that would depict the online
11 opinion more appropriately than the, the social
12 media.

13 Q. How many experts have you come into contact
14 with? You referenced that in your prior answer. How 15 many?

16 MS. SHULLMAN: Object to the form.

17 A. There were two other cases. In those 18 cases, the person -- well, in both cases, it was the 19 same person. But also looking at Mr. Kronenberger in 20 his previous case -- so you've got Mr. Kronenberger
21 himself and then this expert that was the same in 22 both cases. Their methodology before was using 23 Google search results.

24 Q. Who was the expert in the other case?

25 A. Chris Anderson.

HOW WE DID IT
Take URL from URL tab.
Put in URL into AHREFS (make sure it says exact URL in the pull down)
Go to organic keywords button on the side
Sort by position which you can find at the top of the results as a tab
Export results and create a tab with the name of the article in excel
Delete the following columns in the exported spreadsheet:
First column with #, position history, position date, last update, page URL, SERP Features. Your results should align with the templates headers.
Next, sort by "traffic column" most to least. Eliminate any rows with 000.00's in the traffic column.
Delete all results that have 0.000 under traffic tab
Upload all of the remaining keywords into Google keyword planner to get recommended CPC
Add CPC numbers in the CPC column...you can eliminate any other numbers you see in that column. Use $1.50 if it doesn't come back with anything.
On the right side calculate following the template calculation which is "traffic column" X "CPC" column.
At the bottom of the page...total the CPC total.
Make sure you check off on the URLS tab that your complete.

Content Sources

Online News, Blogs, and Broadcast came from TrendKite's article index.

Terms Used

- Volume or Mentions refers to the number of unique articles mentioning Jason Miller
 - Audience or Readership indicates the unique monthly visitors a publication received (provided by SimilarWeb) or the estimated viewership a broadcast clip received (provided by NIELSEN/SQAD)
 - Sentiment is a value derived from a natural language processor that scores content on a scale of positive, neutral, or negative
 - Net Tonality is the positive sentiment score minus the negative sentiment score
 - Social Amplification or Engagements reflects the amount of times the article was shared, liked, commented, tweeted, and so forth
 - Ad Value, or Ad Value Equivalency (AVE), is calculated by the following formula...
- AVE = UVM (Readership) x Average Potential Article Readership (2.35%) x Average AdCost ($0.08)
- The average potential article readership is based on the assumption that not every person that goes to a site in a given month will read a particular article.*
- Average Ad Cost is based on an average cost per thousand impressions (or CPM) of $8, which we've found is a good average across different media type and outlet sizes across the internet. We then multiply that by 10 to account for the fact that the average ad size is about 10x smaller than the average article in terms of web page real estate. [$$8/1000 \times 10 = \0.08]*

Deanna,

We weren't delaying. At the end of the depositions I thought we agreed you'd send an email listing the documents you wanted. We had not received anything from you and were waiting for an email.

That being said, I believe Craig and Isys were working on this, and I need to go back through emails to check on the status. As to the statement, I have heard from Isys and she has found no statement in their system.

I will get with them tomorrow and call or email you with the status and/or additional documents.

Subject: Kronenberger - missing docs

Hello Shane and Ken,

Can you tell me when we can expect Kronenberger's supplemental production? His depo was 10 days ago now, and we've received nothing. He wrote down the missing items and was supposed to gather them for us. By way of reminder, we're waiting on:

- Additional bill/invoice he testified may exist
- Statement prepared for Jason Miller prior to the publication of the Splinter Article (Ms. Caffey was also to search for this)

- Boolean search queries used to generate the results displayed in his report
- Raw data from Talkwalker (*for example, what he used to analyze whether comments were “negative”)
- Word Stream data for CPA

Can you please provide that information to us without further delay?

Thank you,

Deanna

Following up on this because Ken is out of the office. I need to point out on a couple of these issues that your expert testified the search terms are not relevant due to the spike in activity at the time of the Article, and she also confirmed you did not obtain access to Talkwalker because of the cost. The specific responses are as follows:

- Additional bill/invoice he testified may exist—There are no additional bills/invoices
- Statement prepared for Jason Miller prior to the publication of the Splinter Article (Ms. Caffey was also to search for this)—There is not a statement that was prepared prior to the publication of the Splinter Article
- Boolean search queries used to generate the results displayed in his report—Information on the search queries is set forth below
- Raw data from Talkwalker (*for example, what he used to analyze whether comments were “negative”)—The raw data is being compiled and will be sent separately (likely on Monday) due to size.
- Word Stream data for CPA—see the following: <https://www.wordstream.com/blog/ws/2016/02/29/google-adwords-industry-benchmarks>

The search queries info is as follows:

The taxonomy for the project was set-up to look at several topics. Each one of the below names represents projects that were set-up. In addition to the projects, filters were used to pull the data for each project as well as filters to get as narrow as possible on the contents of the article:

Jason Miller

("jason miller" OR +"@JasonMillerinDC" OR hashtag:#JasonMiller) AND (delgado OR +"@AJDelgado13" OR stripper OR "abortion pill" OR pregnan* OR splinter OR +"@splinter_news" OR "katherine krueger" OR +"@kath_krueger" OR +"@yashar")

AJ Delgado

+"@AJDelgado13" OR authorshort:AJDelgado13 OR authorshort:ajdelgado13 OR +"@ajdelgado13" OR "aj delgado" OR "A. J. Delgado" OR "A.J. Delgado" OR "arlene delgado" OR "arlene j. delgado" OR hashtag:#ajdelgado

Stripper Rumor

stripper OR "abortion pill" OR "jane doe" OR "strip club" OR "gentlemen's club" OR "Rachel's Gentleman's Club" OR smoothie OR abortion

Legal

libel OR defamation OR defamatory OR litigation OR "circuit court" OR "eleventh judicial circuit" OR "miami-dade county" OR "cease-and-desist" OR "court documents" OR "court filing" OR "psychological evaluation"

"legal team" OR "Martin-Lavielle" OR "+@Pamllaw" OR "Ana Martin Lavielle"

Splinter News

Splinter OR "+@splinter_news" OR authorshort:splinter_news OR "+kath_krueger" OR authorshort:kath_krueger OR "Court Docs Allege Ex-Trump Staffer Drugged Woman He Got Pregnant With Abortion Pill" OR "Katherine Krueger"

The following custom filters were created to select out more specific aspects:

- Delgado mentions: mentions of AJ Delgado and her social media account names
- Stripper Rumor: keywords related to the stripper rumor
- Legal related: assorted legal/lawsuit related keywords, and location of the court where the case was filed, as well as the legal team
- Kelly Courtney Miller: mentions of Jason Miller's wife's name and her social media account name
- Splinter mentions: mentions related to Splinter News, or the title and author of the article
- Jason Miller: mentions of Jason Miller's name or social handles (useful to filter Twitter channels to limit it to tweets about Jason Miller)
- Abortion and abortion pill related terms

Hi Shane,

We are considering using the following pages from Kronenberger's and Giddens' depositions in our motion to strike Kronenberger's expert opinions, which is due June 27. Accordingly, can you please review the portions cited below and advise if you intend to designate any of them as confidential by sometime tomorrow so that we can prepare the appropriate LR 5.4 filing, if needed?

As previously indicated, Mr. Kronenberger will make himself available for another deposition if you feel there is a need to ask him additional questions about the data after you have an opportunity to review it. He can be available August 7-27 (as he will not be returning from a trip until August 6).

We intend to file a Motion seeking leave to file a supplement to our Opposition to the Motion to Strike Mr. Kronenberger, to advise the Court that the above referenced Dashboard with access to the Talkwalker data has been provided pursuant to Rule 26(e)(2), as well as that we reconfirmed the offer for Mr. Kronenberger's continued deposition once you have the opportunity to review the data. I assume you oppose that motion for leave, but please let me know either way so I can include that in the certificate of conference. Thank you.
